Adobe Creative Cloud Express for Education

Adobe: Delivering creative lessons around Female Pioneers in Science with Adobe Creative Cloud Express

Activities

The following activities are based on a lesson developed by TA Education for Google Arts & Culture.

'Female Pioneers in Science' – link here

01. Create a Top Trumps graphic card of a female pioneer of your choice

02. Create a Timeline graphic of major events in your chosen pioneer's life

03. Create a social media post/profile in the spirit of a female pioneer

04. Produce a short video highlighting a key achievement of your pioneer

05. Design a website on the impact their inventions have had on the world

Or. Produce your own creative object using Adobe Express
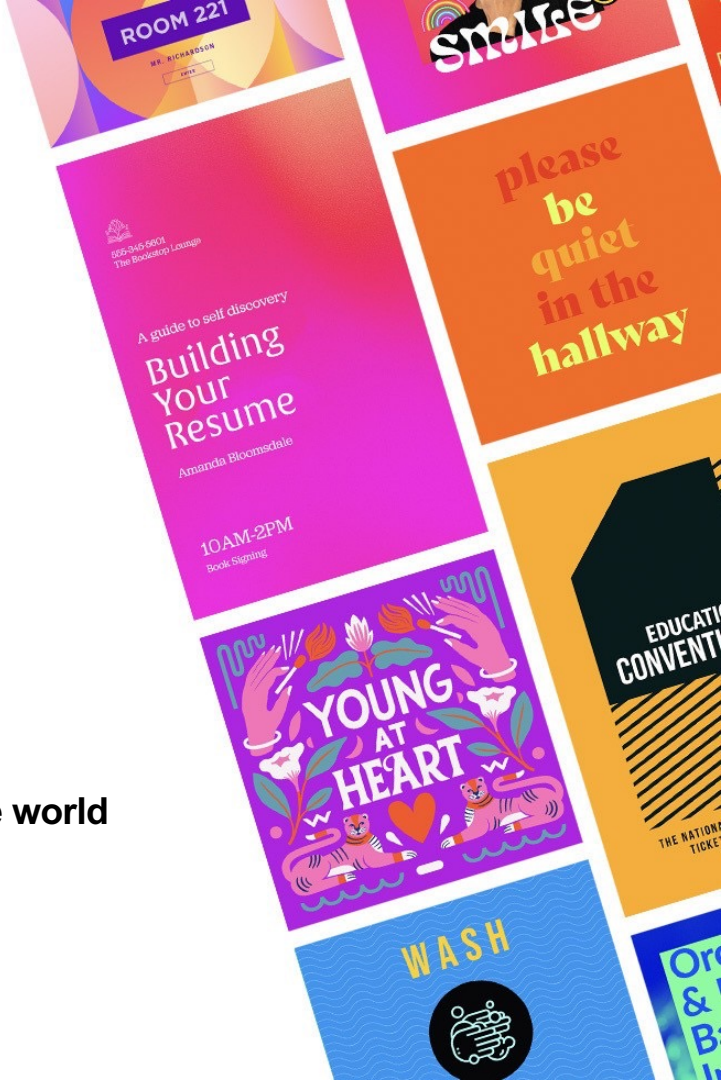

1. Top Trumps

Use your knowledge to give them a score from 1-100 in each of the key areas, then revisit your research to add some interesting facts about the person

Tools

Shapes

Basic shapes 8   View all >

Text   ×

+ Add your text

🔍 Search Text

Example

Yvonne Brill Space rocket engineer

| Intelligence	/100
Importance	/100
Influence	/100
Inventiveness	/100

Yvonne Brill

Year of birth

Did you know:

Adobe

2. Timeline

Create a Timeline graphic of major events that happened in the life of your chosen pioneer

Tools

Templates

Text ✕

➕ Add your text

🔍 Search Text

Example

MARIE CURIE

| | 7 Nov 1867 |
| I | Born |

Arguably one of the most famous women in Science, Marie Sklodowska was born in Warsaw, Poland

| 1895 | |
| Get Married | II |

Married Pierre Curie

| | 1922 |
| III | Medicine |

Elected to the Academy of Medicine

| 1934 | |
| Died | IV |

Adobe

3. Social Showcase

Create a social media post/profile in the spirit of a female pioneer

4. Video

Produce a short video highlighting a key achievement of your pioneer of choice

Tools	Example

Video

Video | Text | Photo | Icon

+

Layout | Theme | Resize | Music

Professor Frances Arnold is the first U.S. woman to win a Nobel Prize in chemistry. She pioneered "directed evolution," a method to produce new enzymes —the proteins that drive chemical reactions. Her enzymes help to make renewable fuels or treat chemical spills.

0:04

5. Website

Design a website highlighting the impact the inventions your pioneer has created have had on the world

Tools	Example

Adobe Creative Cloud Express for Education

Thank you!